

Kids and Parenting

Parenting Orders Issued by the Court:

The Court orders that:

Both parents will have joint custody and responsibility for the major long-term issues for their child Peter Parker born February 24, 2010.

Such issues include, but are not limited to the children's

- (a) education;
- (b) religious and cultural upbringing; and
- (c) health management.

Each parent shall have individual responsibility for daily decisions about the care and development of the child while the child is in the care of that parent.

From 1 August 2019 to 31 July 2020, except as otherwise provided by these orders, the times the child will spend time with the parents each fortnight are:

- Week 1: Mother from 4 pm Sunday to 4 pm Sunday;
- Week 2: Father from 4 pm Sunday to 4 pm Sunday;

Either parent may suspend the regular arrangements detailed in these Orders on up to three occasions per year for the purposes of holidays with the child, subject to the conditions that:

- (a) no less than two weeks notice;
- (b) no more than three months
- (c) is given to the other parent;
- (d) the blocks of time are to be no closer together than 2 months;
- (e) the blocks of time do not to include Christmas or 'other special days' as agreed; and
- (f) the blocks do not exceed 12 nights in length for holidays during the Australian summer and 6 nights for holidays at other times.

For any changeover occurring outside of school hours, unless otherwise agreed, the parent with the child will transport the child to the other parent's residence.

Notes:

1. The parents agree that Dad will make major education decisions but both parents will decide on any other major issues which arise.
2. Care will be split 7:7 (7 nights with Mum and 7 nights with Dad each fortnight).
3. The example consent orders provide for Peter to have a week with each parent between school terms.
4. For the "special days" of Mother's Day and Father's Day and the respective birthdays, Peter will spend the full day with Mum or Dad respectively.
5. For Christmas, the child sees both parents (with alternating time arrangements each year).
